

Study Group: Rich People in an Age of Hunger

The Bible contains more than 3,000 verses that tell us that God expects us to take on special responsibility for people who are at a disadvantage in life. These verses suggest that wealth need not divert us from a spiritual path—provided we use our wealth for the greater good of all. What is the best way to share? How can we use our resources so they have the greatest impact? How much does each one of us need?

M. Susanne Kromberg, M. Div, will facilitate a book group that encourages personal discovery of how each participant is called to live. Susanne is a firm believer that—although some may choose to live with less as a result of this discernment—this is intended to be a joyful discovery of the meaning of our lives and becoming free to live as God created us to live, individually and in community.

Using Ronald Sider's Rich Christians in an Age of Hunger as a starting point, we will consider models of tithing, ways of sharing resources, using our time well and discovering how we can free up energy to care for those within and outside our closest circles of family and friends, and considering how we can know what is right and manageable for each one of us.

The group will meet monthly for 8 months. Cost: $200 covers the price of the book, simple hospitality at meetings and group facilitation by Susanne. The group will meet from 7.00 pm—8.30 pm on the second Wednesday of each month, starting November 14, 2007, and ending June 11, 2008.
